No problem. We have the NWGLDE listing which I assume is the approval/acceptance you mention. We have also completed two successful EPA tests under Ken Wilcox Associates as the 3rd party testing laboratory. All tests passed with 100% accuracy. Is there contact information that you can provide for your technical team and the deputy AG? Thanks again!

Sincerely,

Danny Brevard; PG

Hi Danny,

No I haven't had a chance to look at it but more importantly, our deputy AG and our technical experts have not reviewed it. Generally though we would wait for EPA to approve these methods for use and to meet regulatory requirements.

Appreciate the updates though.

Hello Thu

Have you had time to review the published NWGLDE listing for Dri-sump Containment Tightness Test and if so, can you provide an acceptance email or letter please? In the past 35 days, the method has been accepted in over half the United states. Thank you for your time!

Sincerely,

Danny Brevard; PG
